Award-winning AEC Industry Publication

Colorado Construction & Design® (CCD) is Colorado's strongest and most trusted construction news and marketing magazine. For over a decade, smart marketers renew their ad campaigns year after year because they know their ad dollars are being invested wisely.

A Proven Construction Marketing Resource

Whether you're a land developer, general contractor or specialty trades contractor, architect, engineer, products supplier or service provider, CCD helps you reach the most qualified decision-makers in a clean, uncluttered format, published in print and online in eMag format at www.ccdmag.com.

With a print and digital media circulation and a shared readership of 2-3 readers per copy, each twice-quarterly issue of CCD reaches more than 50,000 A/E/C Industry decision makers in print and online.

CCD magazine's well-managed circulation list gives advertisers direct access to top real estate owners, developers, general contractors, architects and engineers, government and economic-development officials, and the entire A/E/C industry across the state.

Colorado Construction and Design® magazine's meticulously maintained distribution list includes all top commercial real estate developers/investors, government agencies, economic development officials, general contractors, and AEC industry leaders across the State.
